Clip and rip

Safe for everything! Give yourself a 'new year, new you' reliability makeover with Ex Time's revolutionary Clip & Rip watch, designed to be clipped to your belt - with a built-in compass and micro light to lead the way. Designers took inspiration from karabiners used in rock-climbing and harnesses used in climbing and wind surfing, as well as Swiss Army knives. Via front and back straps (worth £40 each) to give away.

100 wines you should drink...

Matt Skinner's wine philosophy for 2008 is simple: step outside your comfort zone. And his award-winning guide, The Juice 2008, now on its third update - will encourage you to try new varieties and styles according to the occasion and without fear. And as it's compact as a discable CD, it fits into your bag and your lifestyle. We have 12 copies for adventurous, wine-loving readers.

don't be S.A.D.

Boost your winter energy levels at the touch of a switch. Small, discreet and stylish, the S.A.D. Lightbox Company's (Litho) Jewell £110 compensates brilliantly for the lack of natural light on grey, overcast days. Great for use at home, studying or working, it can be used vertically or horizontally, and is ideal for placing under a monitor or for screen while you work.

a greener new year

Waste to recycle more but don't want unsightly or dangerous piles of rubbish cluttering your kitchen or utility room? Simphulman's nonregular regular in stylish brushed steel Jewell £110 contains 30 and 19 capacity buckets, helping you to keep rubbish from recyclables. It fits snugly against a flat wall, and closes with a whisper.
